Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 3, 5 & 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bruns et al (6,293,585).

In regards to claim 1, Bruns et al teaches a device for measuring torsional distortion of a body having a first and second clip portions (27 & 29, i.e. mounting holes) having a central part and two legs (25 & 31, i.e. arms) depending from the central part, each leg (27 & 29) having adjacent a free end thereof at least one of a groove or a projection for engaging at least one of a respective projection or groove provided on or in a body to mount the clip portion (27 & 29) on the body rotationally fast therewith (Column 4, lines 1-26); a bridge (37) interconnecting the clip portions (27 & 29), the bridge (37) being less stiff than the clip portions (27 & 29) whereby relative rotational displacement of the clip portions (27 & 29) caused by torsional distortion of the body will cause proportional deflection of the bridge (37) and a measuring means (43 & 45, i.e. transducers) for measuring the deflection of the bridge (37) (Abstract; Column 4, lines 16-26; See Figures 2 & 3A).

With respect to claim 3, Bruns et al teaches wherein the means for measuring deflection of the bridge (37) being mounted on the bridge (37) (Abstract; See Figure 2).

With respect to claims 5 & 13, Bruns et al teaches the clip portions (27 & 29) and the bridge (37) being an integral structure (See Figure 1).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2, 4 & 6-12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art does not disclose or suggest a device for measuring torsional distortion of a body having an included angle of the ridges is less than an included angle of the grooves and the grooves and ridges being shaped so that each ridge engages each groove along two lines of contacts spaced from a base of the groove as positively recited in the claims in combination with the remaining limitations of claim 1.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- U.S. Patent 6,067,858 (Clark et al) – Micromachined Vibratory Rate Gyroscope

Art Unit: 2855

- U.S. Patent 5,585,571 (Lonsdale et al) – Method and Apparatus for Measuring Strain
